To you the scene is where life's at. You live it, you work it, you love it. Imagine taking all the best bits about the scene – the buzz, the people, the edge – and mix it into a role with leading brands? This could be your lucky day.

We're looking for shapers, influencers, to build relationships in restaurants, clubs and the bar circuit – wherever it's happening is where you'll be. We want you out there day or night – and we'll even pay you for it.

What we want in return is for you to develop key relationships with our customers to ensure that consumers are influenced at the point of purchase, with British American Tobacco brands. So, a Business Development role with a difference. We'll take your personality and attitude and add the freedom and support to enable you to drive customer success.

BAT is one of the leading suppliers of tobacco based products in the world, and is focused on brand development. It's a business that creates opportunity by thinking differently. Sound familiar?

To get lucky, please email your CV to luckyme@pursuitnha.com giving us 3 good reasons why we need you in the scene.
