Passionate about fashion and beauty? Tons of attitude?
Ready to put your enthusiasm and drive to work for a major player in the hair care business?

Our client is a blue chip brand, highly regarded for quality products that are in tune with current fashions. They need to recruit an articulate, lively, commercially-minded Territory Manager to spread the word in the Essex area: this is a fantastic opportunity to build a dream career in a fashion-led business.

You might be doing a similar job right now. Certainly, you'll be in a sales role where you're solely responsible for beating targets and making things happen. You'll be a good communicator, easy to get on with, who can build solid and effective relationships with customers. But most of all, you'll have the drive and ambition to make this role your own crowning glory.
