

Hungry?

Bakehouse is one tasty company. After many years of consistent double digit growth, Bakehouse is now the UK's leading innovator and supplier of authentic bake-off Continental pastries and speciality breads. A firm believer in people development Bakehouse has an ambitious and enthusiastic team of people united by a desire to drive growth and have fun while they are doing it. With an expected turnover of more than £64 million in 2006, and with substantial growth predicted, Bakehouse wants three like-minded individuals to join their expanding sales team to focus on these exciting new opportunities . . .

National Account Managers – Food Service (2 vacancies)

National Account Manager – Wholesale

Circa £37,000 to £42,000 + bonus + car + benefits

Bagshot, Surrey

Is working with hotels, restaurants and coffee shops your cup of tea? Or perhaps getting your teeth into wholesalers and bakery chains is more your bread and butter? Either way, would you like to take your National Account Manager experience into an environment where you will be visible, influential and responsible for great things? If you're the dynamic, creative individuals we think you are you'll relish the prospect.

You'll develop an exciting group of accounts, manage decisively and seize opportunities wherever they present themselves. This you will be used to. But what you may not have experienced before is the degree of autonomy you'll enjoy within an open and supportive business. These are your accounts to make the most of so you will need the drive and lateral thinking to make things happen. You'll need an appreciation of the food industry and a pride in the products you're selling, but you won't find that difficult – Bakehouse products are brand leaders because they are fantastic, simple as that.

Needless to say, you will have a successful track record of selling into the relevant sector. So, if you're a committed, FMCG experienced professional with a passion for food and success, you'll eat these roles . . .
